“Future Bioeconomy” PhD Day NRW

How to manage the supply of a growing world population with high quality food? How can the requirements of a safe and economic raw material and energy production be fulfilled at the same time? To answer these and other important issues, the expertise of different research fields and scientific disciplines are needed.

How does your own research topic contribute to the implementation of a sustainable bioeconomy?

Connect with other young scientists and learn more about alternative career opportunities in the bioeconomy.

We invite all interested doctoral students to attend the 1st state-wide PhD Day " Future Bioeconomy "

Participation is free. You can register here:
